

New Materials, New Technologies: Innovation, Future and Society

Date : January 9, 2008

University College London / Kings College London seminar series supported by ESRC

The Social History of the Prototype: seminar one in a series of four

Date: 11th February 2008; 1:30-6pm

Venue: Department of Anthropology, University College London, 14 Taviton Street (North-Eastern Corner of Gordon Square), London WC1E 6BT

The seminar will examine the social history of the prototype in order to draw out the differences represented by present innovations in materials, technology and manufacture and explore the earlier 18th and 19th century origins and contexts of development underlying current innovations.

Speakers

Susan Mossmann (Science Museum)

Monika Wagner (History of Art, Hamburg University)

Chris Tuck (Engineering, Loughborough University)

Tim Hunkin (Engineer, Cartoonist and Writer)

Jane Prophet (Artist)

For registration details, and dates / venues / details of other seminars in the series

<http://www.ucl.ac.uk/anthropology/conferences/newmaterialsnewtechnologies/>