

Who are you?

Date : June 27, 2008

Having passed the 50,000 mark for unique hits - we thought it was time we reached out to you, our readers, and find out who you are...and to expand our own network...

We know from statcounter that we have readers from all over the world, but we're curious to know how many of you are teachers, how many are students, what other fields you hail from and so forth. Please post to the comments below - let us know who you are, where you are, what you do, give us links to your sites, your spaces and your material...maybe some interesting connections will be made!
