

The Hub Award: Collaborative Residency at the Wellcome Institute

Date : February 21, 2017

via Alice Carey, Wellcome Institute

We are delighted to announce that Wellcome is now accepting applications for a new group of residents in The Hub, beginning at the end of 2018. The grant supports an interdisciplinary group of researchers and creative minds to collaborate on a project of up to 2 years and £1m which explores the cultural and social contexts of health. Wellcome will be holding two open days in The Hub (3-6pm Tuesday 14th March and Wednesday 12th April 2017) which will provide potential applicants with the opportunity to see the space and hear from Wellcome staff and the current Hub residents. Attendees will also have the opportunity to network and find potential collaborators. If you would like to attend one of the open days please register your interest here. For more details about what the award is, who can apply, how to apply, deadlines and contact details please visit The Hub Award page.
