

Oxford University Departmental Lecturer - Visual, Material and Museum Anthropology

Date : March 13, 2018

Departmental Lecturer - Visual, Material and Museum Anthropology

School of Anthropology and Museum Ethnography

DEPARTMENTAL LECTURER - VISUAL, MATERIAL AND MUSEUM ETHNOGRAPHY

Grade 7: £31,076-£38,183 p.a.

Vacancy No. 133502

Applications are invited for a fixed-term Departmental Lecturer (Visual, Material and Museum Anthropology) post required for 12 months from mid-September 2018. The post is full-time (but applicants wishing to work on a part-time basis may be considered) and based at the Institute of Social and Cultural Anthropology, School of Anthropology and Museum Ethnography, Oxford. The role is needed for a limited time to provide cover for teaching and administration whilst arrangements are made for the recruitment of an Associate Professor.

The School is seeking an inspirational teacher with both breadth and depth of knowledge of one or more of the key subject areas of the post and a full command of the relevant literature. You will teach, examine and supervise graduate students on the visual, material and museum anthropology programmes. You will possess a doctorate in a relevant field or will have submitted your doctoral thesis by the starting date.

Applications for this vacancy are to be made online. For further details, including the job description and selection criteria, please click on the link below.

You will be required to upload a CV, a supporting statement, and details of two referees with your application.

Only applications received before 12.00 midday on 22 March 2018 can be considered.

Further particulars

at: <https://www.anthro.ox.ac.uk/article/new-vacancy-departmental-lecturer-visual-material-and-museum-anthropology>